Total Spend (16 weeks)	Total Revenue	Blended ROI	Channels Analyzed

Overview

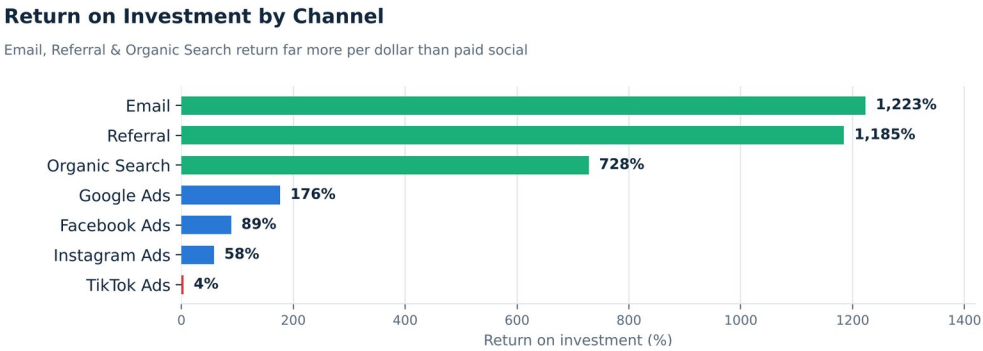

Across 16 weeks, the business spent $71,992 and generated $219,187 in revenue (overall ROI of 204%). Return varies enormously by channel: the top 3 performers (Email, Referral, Organic Search) return 13.2x–8.3x on spend, while TikTok Ads is barely breaking even at 1.04x.

Channel Performance

Channel	Spend	Revenue	ROAS	ROI %
Email	$2,072	$27,408	13.23x	1223%	Scale up
Referral	$3,207	$41,198	12.85x	1185%	Scale up
Organic Search	$2,943	$24,378	8.28x	728%	Scale up
Google Ads	$21,460	$59,324	2.76x	176%	Maintain
Facebook Ads	$18,857	$35,607	1.89x	89%	Maintain
Instagram Ads	$12,751	$20,183	1.58x	58%	Maintain
TikTok Ads	$10,702	$11,089	1.04x	4%	Reconsider

"Scale up" = ROI ≥ 500% · "Maintain" = positive but under 500% · "Reconsider" = ROI under 50%

Recommendation

- Increase budget on Email, Referral, and Organic Search. Low spend today (under $3.5K each) but ROI of 728–1223%. Even with limited scale, they are the most efficient dollars in the mix.
- Keep Google Ads as the primary paid channel. The best ROI among paid media (176%) and able to absorb more volume.
- Reduce or pause TikTok Ads. ROI is near 0% (3.6%); spend here is not paying for itself at current creative/targeting.
- Re-test Instagram Ads with tighter targeting before cutting it. ROI is positive but weak (58%); the CTR (weakest of all channels) suggests a creative or audience problem rather than a channel problem.
- Rebalance, don't just cut. Shifting roughly 20–30% of TikTok/Instagram budget into Email, Referral, and Google Ads should raise blended ROI without shrinking total reach much, since those channels currently have headroom below their natural audience ceiling.

Caveats: Sample data built for this exercise; Email/Referral/Organic naturally have lower ceilings than paid social, so "more budget" means doubling a small base, not matching paid-media scale. Retest before fully reallocating, and revisit this analysis monthly as creative and audiences change.
